PINOT NOIR

CALIFORNIA

Rebel Ridge's daring experiment, to grow the usually delicate Pinot Noir grape in the sun-drenched expanse of California's Lodi Valley, resulted in a wine that is complex and full-bodied while standing as a testament to the velvety side of California Pinot Noir side.

Rebel Ridge Noir23 is, without a doubt, the boldest Pinot Noir encountered, delivering on quality and value while standing as a true expression of classic California Pinot Noir. Boasting an irresistibly gentle and delicious profile, the wine is framed by ripe, fruit-forward notes of cherry, wild blueberry and toasted oak. A pure delight!

FOOD PAIRINGS

Bold yet gentle, Noir22 is a wine befitting any number of occasions and dishes, from a casual afternoon enjoying a good book or accompanied by friends gathered together.

Varietal: Pinot Noir
Region: California
Alcohol: 13.5

Rebel Ridge draws its name from the majestic mountain 'ridge', nestled amidst sprawling Californian vineyards, where three visionary 'rebels' in the wine world would convene. The head winemaker, hailing from the famous vineyards of Valpolicella in Italy, was eager to harness the abundant Californian sunlight. Their collective vision: a style less bound by pretense and more inclined towards a "full-on fruit" experience. Rebel Ridge stands as a testament to their determination to break free from the confines of tradition, creating wines that resonate with the vibrant spirit of California, basking in the sun-drenched hours that define the region.
